Orchids of Thailand

Mary visited Thailand in March of 2014, and this talk highlights some of the wonderful orchids of the tour. Travel with Mary to northern and northeastern Thailand and enjoy the orchids of the seasonal dry forests, wet evergreen forests, and rocky outcrops. You can't go to Thailand without visiting a temple or two and there are highlights from a few of these as well. This is a great opportunity to get a better understanding of Thai orchids, and a feel for how these species grow in the native habitats.

Speaker Bio

Mary Gerritsen, Ph.D. is an independent biotechnology consultant who has been growing orchids (mostly species) on and off for more than 30 years. After moving to the San Francisco Bay area in 1997, she got serious! She has a large collection of small cool growing miniature species such as Masdevallias, Porroglossums, Lepanthes and other assorted tiny gems, and in a second intermediate greenhouse, larger species such as Angraecoids, Dendrobiums, Oncidiums, Laelias, Phalaenopsis and Bulbophyllums. She loves to see orchids growing in situ, and has made it her mission over the last few years to see as many as possible, with trips to see and photograph orchids (and other flora as well) in Canada, various states in the USA, Mexico, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela, Brazil, France, Luxemborg, Germany, Mallorca, Rhodes and Crete, Western China, Borneo, Thailand and Australia. She is the co-author (with friend and well known photographer, Ron Parsons) of several botanical books: Masdevallias, Gems of the Orchid World, the two volume Compendium of Miniature Orchid Species, and Calorchortus: Mariposa Lilies and their Relatives. Mary is a past president of the Peninsula Orchid Society (San Mateo), and the San Francisco Orchid Society. Mary is also a director of the Orchid Conservation Alliance.

Hanging Gardens: Worts and All.

As anticipated, Dan's talk about his greenhouse was entertaining and informative. I loved the fact that Dan has encouraged his greenhouse to be it's own little ecosystem and not just an environment for growing orchids. The take home message I got from his talk is that growing orchids is an iterative process involving a lot of trial and error and some ingenuity. He has been able to make the most of where his greenhouse is located (near the ocean) to create a range of growing conditions from cool to intermediate by partitioning his greenhouse and strategically placing a heater (for winter months) to create a gradient of temperature where the area farthest from the heater is relatively cool and closest to the heater intermediate to warm. In the summer the greenhouse is naturally warmed by the sun, but can be easily cooled using the cool ocean breezes and fog by opening doors and vents.
